

No Infantile Cases In Narberth Boro

Only 2 Light Cases Reported in Lower Merion

Health officers in Haverford and Lower Merion Townships and the Borough of Narberth are keeping their fingers crossed.

To date, the three communities have escaped any serious effect of the infantile paralysis epidemic which is worrying Philadelphia and the nation.

Narberth to date has had no cases of the disease at all.

In Haverford Township, 18-month-old Mary Ellen Dufeny, of Warren Ave., Manoa, suffered a light attack and has now recovered.

In Lower Merion Township, there have been two cases.

They were James A. Dunlap, 13, of 517 Baird Rd., Merion, and Judith Markley, 5, of 155 Grandview Ave., Ardmore.

Both children have not recovered and are out of quarantine. The quarantine has also been lifted on children who had come in contact with them.

The health officials urged that all residents continue to observe the following precautions through the danger period which is believed to last well into next month:

1. Don't swim in polluted water.
2. Avoid extreme fatigue and over-exertion.
3. Avoid sudden chills, such as diving into cold water when overheated.
4. Keep flies away from food.
5. Keep clean. Wash hands thoroughly before eating.

First Aid Chart Available For Use

Will Enable People To Help Themselves In Minor Cases

A paper First Aid Chart for home use has been prepared for its 625,000 subscribers and the general public by the Associated Hospital Service of the Philadelphia area, popularly known as the Blue Cross.

Available without charge, the chart is 9 1/2 x 12 1/2 inches and is suitable for pasting or tacking on the back of medicine cabinets or on any wall surface where it may be referred to easily, the plan's executive director, E. A. van Steewyk, stated.

Officially approved by both the Philadelphia County Medical Society and the Philadelphia Department of Public Health, the chart was designed to contribute to public health by listing concise, practical suggestions which the lay public can follow until a doctor has been secured.

Van Steewyk pointed out that doctors and hospitals now carrying the heaviest schedules in their history are unable to give the help that the chart would lighten their load by helping to prevent serious conditions and enabling people to help themselves in minor cases.

The charts are being distributed through the 8,500 Southeastern Pennsylvania South Jersey firms cooperating with the Blue Cross, whose personnel and medical directors are ordering bulk supplies for employees. The charts may also be obtained, however, directly from the Associated Hospital Service.

19-Year-Olds May Enlist in the WAC

Nineteen year old women who have delayed applying for enlistment in the WAC may now complete their processing one week to 30 days before their 20th birthday.

When the word came that it was on, the various battalion staffs of our regiment were called in from their command posts for a final review of the battle plan.

Each one was given a mimeographed sketch of the frontline area, showing exactly where and when each type bomber was to hammer the German lines ahead of them. Another mimeographed page was filled with specific orders for the grand attack to follow.

Officers stood or squatted in a circle in a little apple orchard behind a ramshackle stone farmhouse of a poor French family who had left before us. The stonewall in the front yard had been knocked down by shelling, and through the orchards there were shell craters and tree limbs knocked off and trunks sliced by bullets. Some enlisted men sleeping the night before in the attic of the house got the shock of their lives when the thin floor collapsed and they fell down into the cowshed below.

The attack had been delayed from day to day because of poor flying weather and the final day we hadn't known for sure till after breakfast, whether it was on or off again.

Need Volunteers For Russia Clothing Drive

A call for women volunteers for the forthcoming "Used Clothes for Russia" campaign was issued this weekend by officials of the Russian War Relief, Inc. The city-wide campaign, shaping up as the ever staged here, will start Sept. 5 and will run for one month.

Because there has been no civilian clothing manufactured in the Soviet for the past three years, since the Nazi invasion, good, warm clothing is first on the list of needs of the hundreds of thousands of Russian men, women, and children who are now returning to their liberated villages.

Philadelphians, during the month of September, will aim at sending 1,000,000 pounds of used clothing to their Russian allies. A similar drive here last year resulted in a collection of 500,000 pounds.

NARBERTH SEEKS 2ND VICTORY IN PLAYOFF WITH BARTRAM NINE; CRAIG, SHUCKMAN STAR IN 6-1 WIN

Narberth Turns Back Bartram Nine, 6-1; Play Again Sunday

With Narberth off to a flying start in its semi-final playoff series with Bartram and itching for victory No. 2 this week, the post-season spotlight in the Main Line Baseball League swings to Haverford Township Sunday where Manoa and Brookline will launch their semi-final series.

Brookline got into the series by taking a fourth place playoff from Collegeville to the amazing tune of 21-6 last week and the boys who are supposed to know such things are giving the Hares an even chance in the best three games out of five series that also will decide the Haverford Township championship.

But George (Chick) Matthews, fiery Manoa manager, wasn't impressed by Brookline's massacre of the Colonels and predicted: "We'll take 'em in three straight."

Such straight forward talk is very painful to Eddie Hare, gray-haired, soft-spoken, pilot who squeezed Brookline into the playoffs for the second straight year.

"How can anyone say that?" moaned Eddie when told of Matthews' prediction, "after the way we've been hitting the last month, Manoa's in for a big surprise."

Manoa holds a 2-1 edge in the season's series, having defeated the Hares, 10-4 and 4-2, after Brookline won the first game of the season, 7-6. In their last meeting two weeks ago, Brookline was ahead until the eighth.

Walt Cantwell, both leading pitcher and batter on the Manoa club, is a cinch to start for the Chicks, while Walt Azpell, former

Advise On Gifts

of the packages and additional time is required.

More Care Necessary

More care, it was pointed out, must be taken in wrapping and packing parcels securely and dressing them clearly and correctly.

The postmaster released the following advice from Postmaster General Frank C. Walker:

"It is not a pleasant thing to visit a postal concentration center and see the numbers of Christmas parcels which will never reach servicemen and servicewomen."

"I am sorry that anyone ever mentioned that to me, for a shoe box is the approximate limit for packages intended for gift mailings overseas. Unhappily many people became convinced that a shoe box is the limit for a wrapper. These gifts must travel far, with shipping space crowded. To be protected in transit gifts must be packed in boxes made of metal, wood, solid fiberboard or cardboard, reinforced with corrugated fiberboard, reinforced with strong gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine. If both tape and strong twine are used, so much the better. If the outer wrapper is crushed—and this is likely to happen—the loss of contents may be prevented if fiberboard boxes are wrapped in heavy paper."

Write Address Inside

"We were unable to deliver many parcels which families and friends sent last year because they were crushed in transit and the gift and the outside wrapper became separated. We would have been able to make delivery if the address had been shown on the inside wrapper. We advise that everyone write the address of the sender and add address of the recipient on the inside of the package as well as outside."

Principal Rules

Among the more important rules for Christmas mailings to the armed forces overseas are the following:

Parcel must not exceed five pounds—must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christmas parcel."

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces or in behalf of the same member.

When combination packages are made up of such items as miscellaneous toilet articles, hard candies, soaps, etc., the contents should be tightly packed so that they will not become loosened in transit and damage the contents of the cover. Hard candies, nuts, caramels (including those covered with chocolate), cookies, fruit cake, and chocolate bars individually wrapped in waxed paper should be enclosed in inner boxes of wood, metal, or cardboard.

Perishable goods, such as fruits and vegetables that may spoil, intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail are prohibited.

Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to prevent breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, must have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

Navy Lists Rules For

Christmas Mailing

Facing the mammoth problem of delivering to Naval personnel throughout the world an estimated

25 million Christmas packages to be mailed in the period between

Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, Navy officials issued an appeal for observance of three rules. They are:

1. Address it correctly

2. Wrap it securely

3. Mail it on time

Incorrect addresses caused 15 per cent of all Christmas packages sent last year to be delayed from 60 days to six months.

Rules for the overseas package are that it must not weigh more than 5 pounds, be more than 15 inches in length or be more than

36 inches in length and girth combined. As an added precaution against the outside wrapper becoming damaged, it is requested that a tag with the address repeated and a list of items included in the package be placed inside the package. Address should be printed in ink or typed.

STEEL DRAINS HOME FRONT

In 1943 the steel industry consumed electricity enough to supply 17,178,000 families for 12

equivalent to year's consumption in 12,868,000 houses.

the sky. They were bombing about half a mile ahead of where we stood.

They came in groups, diving from every direction, perfectly timed, one right after another. Everywhere you looked separate groups of planes were on the way down, or on the way back up, or slanting over for a dive, or circling, circling, circling over our heads, waiting for their turn.

The air was full of sharp and distinct sounds of cracking bombs and the heavy tips of the planes' machine guns and the splitting screams of diving wings. It was all fast and furious, but yet distinct, as in a musical show in which you could distinguish throaty tunes and words.

And then a new sound gradually drowned into our ears, a sound deep and all encompassing with no notes in it—just a gigantic far-away surge of doom-like sound. It was the heaves. They came from directly behind us. At first that was the merest dots in the sky. You could not see them against the far heavens, too tiny to count individually. They came on with a terrible slowness.

They came in flights of 12, three flights to a group and in groups stretched out across the sky. They came in "families" of about 70 planes each.

Maybe these gigantic waves were two miles apart, maybe they were 10 miles, I don't know. But I do know they came in a constant procession and I thought it would never end. What the Germans must have thought is beyond comprehension.

Their march across the sky was slow and studied. I've never known a storm, or a machine, or any resolve of man that had about it the aura of such a ghastly relentlessness. You had the feeling that even had God appeared beseechingly before them in the sky with palms outward to persuade them back they would not have had within them the power to turn from their irresistible course.

I stood with a little group of men, ranging from colonels to privates, back of the stone farmhouse. Silt trenches were all around the edge of the farmyard and a dugout with a tin roof was nearby. But we were so fascinated by the spectacle overhead that it never occurred to us that we might need the foxholes.

The first huge flight passed directly over our farmyard and others followed. We spread our feet and leaned far back trying to look straight up, until our steel helmets fell off. We'd cup our fingers around our eyes like field glasses for a clearer view.

Some of Brave Fliers Crash With Planes

Someone shouted that one of the planes was smoking. Yes, we could all see it. A long faint line of black smoke stretched straight for a mile behind one of them.

And as we watched there was a gigantic sweep of flame over the plane. From nose to tail it disappeared in flame, and it slanted slowly down and banked around the sky in great wide curves, this way and that way, as rhythmically and gracefully as in a slow motion waltz.

Then suddenly it seemed to change its mind and it swept upward, steeper and steeper and even slower until finally it seemed poised motionless on its black pillar of smoke. And then just as slowly turned over and dove for the earth. Nothing deviated them by the slightest.

2,112,000,000,000 Mosquitoes To Invade Area, Says U. S. Health Expert

Between 1,056,000,000,000 and 2,112,000,000,000 bloodthirsty mosquitoes—at least 528,000 for each of Philadelphia's two million residents—may descend upon the city and nearby communities this summer, according to a U. S. Public Health Service expert assigned to help organize a fight against them.

Major Russell W. Gies, government sanitary engineer, who made the estimate, said that approximately one trillion mosquitoes can be expected in the amount of rainfall during the season is average, but that frequent rains, or tidal floods, could cause the hatching of up to twice that many. If effective control work were not done, he has been assigned to work in the area to help guard against spread of malaria and other mosquito-borne diseases and to speed war production by reducing the excessive number of mosquitoes that handicapped it in past years in this area.

The Government is co-operating with Philadelphia and Delaware County officials, mosquito commissions, the Army, Navy and nearby industrial firms in a concerted program to reduce the number of the pests.

Major Gies is executive director of the Delaware County Mosquito Commission and Dr. Robert M. Stabler, University of Pennsylvania entomologist, assistant director.

Major Gies pointed out that officials of the Westinghouse plant at nearby Lester—near the marshlands bordering the Delaware River—and other industrial plants were co-operating. He said that Westinghouse has undertaken a heavy program, having built scores of mosquito traps and donated some of them to Delaware County.

L. E. Osborne, Vice President in charge of the Westinghouse plants said that safety committees have been organized at the Company's Steam Division and Merchant Marine Division plants and that they are overseeing the work of spraying, draining pools, spreading oil, filling in low spots, and other measures to reduce the "hatch" at the two plants.

Osborne urged that householders add their cooperation to that of the industrial managers. He pointed out that unsuspected mosquito-breeding sources discovered on Westinghouse property were an abandoned basement containing several feet of water, forgotten rain barrels on roofs, and even

The aircraft industry has developed a new kind of glue, which is far ahead of anything we have had in sticking quality.

Warner Children to Stay With Father

Judge Knight Rules Mrs. Roma Warner Unfit Custodian

Sterling C. Warner, proprietor of a jewelry store in Broad St. Suburban Station, may keep his children, Roma, 8, and Richard, 5, at his home, 723 Kenmore Rd., Cynwyd, Judge Harold G. Knight ruled yesterday in Montgomery County Court.

However, Warner's estranged wife, Roma, 33, of 3715 Pulaski Ave., may visit them every Sunday from 3 to 5 P. M.

Judge Knight said he was giving the children to their father instead of to the mother, as she asked in a habeas corpus proceeding, because:

"The father's economic position is better than the mother's, and there was considerable evidence tending to show that the mother was not a fit person to be entrusted with the custody of her children."

Mrs. Warner was arrested July 31, 1943, at the Ocean City (N. J.) home of Elmer Unger, former physical education instructor at Lower Merion High School and teacher of beach reducing classes. She and Unger, often likened to a "Greek" by his admirers, were indicted by the Grand Jury of Cape May County, N. J., on charges of adultery, pleaded non-vault and were found guilty. Each paid a $200 fine.

"Certain it is," declared Judge Knight in his opinion, "that her conduct with Elmer Unger, a married man, falls far below the standard of propriety of a proper wife and mother. The father of the children has started a divorce action against his wife. She has fled an answer denying the infidelity and charging her husband with adultery. This case is now pending in the Philadelphia courts. We are convinced that the best interests and welfare of these children will be served by allowing them to remain with their father."

Asks Children to Renew Collection Of Tin Cans in Fall

Dr. Francis B. Haas, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a letter today to school superintendents and principals, asked for increased activity in the collection of tin cans prepared for war purposes, as soon as the schools open next month.

Frank R. Fish, of Jenkintown, Montgomery County, a member of the department's staff, was named as schools salvage chairman, and placed in charge of arrangements for the collections in cooperation with Colley S. Baker, executive secretary of the advisory committee on salvage of the State Council of Defense.

"The Government tells us," said Dr. Haas, "that the need for tin for war purposes is greater even today than last year."

"We want the pupils of every Pennsylvania school to regularly engage in the collection of prepared tin cans throughout the coming school year."

These camera breakfast hikes are proving very popular, and anyone interested in photography is cordially invited to join with the Camera Club whenever they occur.

Strangely, he received only honorable mention in the all-star poll.

Cantwell, Shuckman and Lefty Holstein, Bartum's colorful leading hitter, each received votes for valuable player, while Pancoast, Collegeville, and Jackie Werner, Brookline reliever who now is the property of the Phillies at Bradford, trailed in the vote for the most improved player.

In addition to Craig, Narberth placed Shuckman and Bill Sobczak, outfielders, and first baseman Buddy Walker on the first all-star team. Aside from Cantwell, Manoa players honored included Straccone, third base; Menendez, outfield; and Gwinn, catcher. The latter's choice was a surprise to most observers as he had a poor season at the plate.

Brookline's hard hitting infielders, Bogash and Schwanda, completed the "dream" team.

KNOW YOUR STATE

Another Postwar Employment Source

Pennsylvania is fortunate in having within its boundaries some of the largest Army and Navy supply depots in the country. The sites for these installations were selected primarily because of the excellent rail facilities available in the Commonwealth and their proximity to ports. All kinds of material amounting to hundreds of thousands of tons—the equivalent of more than 100 solid train loads—are loaded and unloaded each month. Not only are thousands of persons kept busy handling the material at the depots, but also numerous railroad employees are engaged in manning the trains and shifting cars.

These depots are necessary for the storage of manufactured and preserved products so that they will be sure to be available when needed. Manufacturers' storage facilities are usually limited and because of the enormous amount of supplies that are purchased by the armed services, prompt shipment of the goods from their establishments are essential to prevent congestion. Depots also re-pack and crate certain kinds of materials and reship, from their stocks, quantities of each type to conform to the needs of our forces.

Millions of dollars have been spent to erect the buildings comprising these depots and it is probable that a number will have to be permanent installations. In any event, the depots will furnish a continuing source of employment for some time after the war, during a period when jobs will probably not be too numerous. While there will be a curtailment of personnel, a large number of persons will be needed to handle the surplus and to continue shipping subsistence and clothing overseas. This employment, in addition to that required for State and community public works programs already on record with the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce, will keep many of the State's workers busy until the production of peacetime goods.

Monty Woolley Bucks Co. Playhouse

For the final week of its third summer season in Philadelphia, the Bucks County Playhouse is presenting Monty Woolley in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," which will mark the only stage appearance the celebrated actor will make this year. The comedy opens Monday night, August 28, and will continue through Labor Day, September 4, with both a matinee and evening performance scheduled for that day.

Not only has the Bucks County Playhouse recruited Woolley from his temporary exile to Hollywood to take over the role he created on Broadway, and which he played more than 700 times, but he will be supported by an all-star cast headed by such stage stars as Carol Goodner, who was also in the Broadway production, Philip Loeb, Gerald Savory and Halls Stoddard.

DAVIS ASKS TOOLS FOR FIGHTERS

Speaking by radio from Honolulu, Hawaii, after his return from Saipan and Guam, Elmer Davis, Director of the Office of War Information, cautioned the American people that while American generals and admirals "have out-thought the Japs as our rank and file have out-fought them afloat and ashore and in the air... our fighting men need stuff to fight with, stuff we must go on producing at home in ample quantity no matter what may happen elsewhere, no matter how we might like to get back to the familiar ways of peace. Our fighting men out here have written a record of which every American ought to be proud. Give them tools and see that the tools get to them over thousands of miles of land and sea and they'll finish the job."

MCNUTT-NELSON ON RECONVERSION

In a joint statement on the reconversion from war production to civilian production, Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, and Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower Commission, declared that "wherever labor and materials are available which are not needed in, or cannot be made available for, war production they should be employed in civilian production" and that planning "should go forward... so that, as employment in war production ends, jobs in civilian production can be readily found."

PLAN SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM NOW

Before school opens communities should plan their school lunch programs, the War Food Administration says. First step is to organize parents, teachers and representatives of civil organizations to discuss the number of children to participate and facilities and financial assistance available. If the group finds the community is unable to act or is without financial assistance, the official sponsor, usually the board of education or the State Department of Education, may appeal to WFA's Office of Distribution. A Federal fund of 50 million dollars is available for the school lunch program during the 1944-45 school year, funds to be used exclusively for food purchases.

TO KEEP RECORD OF GAS RATIONS

When motorists outside the East Coast area renew their basic "A" gasoline ration to replace the present "A" ration that expire September 21, they'll get a Mileage Rationing Record that will replace the Tire Inspection Record as a record of all gasoline rations issued for use with the basic "A" ration, the OPA has announced. Dates for renewal applications and manner of filling will be announced locally. The Tire Inspection Board must serve until the new form is issued. With every application for a special or supplemental ration, except fleet or official ration, the motorist must present the Mileage Rationing Record form to the local board. While the new "A" book will give the same monthly ration as the old, eight gallons a month, the new coupons will be worth four gallons instead of three. In 17 East Coast States and the District of Columbia, present "A" rations do not expire until February 8, 1945.

YOUR BOY FRIEND IN AUSTRALIA

Young lady, if your boy friends is in Australia, you'd better write him today—and every day. The Australian News and Information Bureau says that an estimated 10,000 American servicemen in that country have married Australian girls. The more than 7,000 marriages registered with American consulates do not include recent weddings.

PRICES UP ON SOME SMOKED FISH

Most popular cured and smoked fresh water and salt water fish will cost consumers an average of 10 cents a pound above former ceiling prices, OPA says. Smoked fish affected are mild-cured salmon, sablesfish, kippered salmon and whitefish. OPA took action to relieve a price "squeeze" on processors.

ARROW POISON NOW SAVES SOLDIERS

Surare, a deadly poison that native Indians of the Amazon called "flying death" because they used it to make poison arrows, is now saving lives of the fighting men of United Nations, the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs reports. Surare is now used to relieve spastic paralysis and to relax the muscles of mental patients undergoing convulsive shock.

TAKE YOUR OWN SHOPPING BAGS

When you go shopping, you can give your merchant a lift if you take your own shopping bag or else carry your purchases home unwrapped, because WPB reveals that this year less than half as much paper for retail wrapping and paper bags is available than during a normal year. WPB has asked merchants to wrap for protection rather than for appearance.

JAPS GUESS THIS ONE WRONG

The Japs apparently figured that the rainy season from mid-May until late August would retard the Allied advance in Burma. The Japs made a "gross miscalculation," the Chungking radio said, inasmuch as the Allied capture of Myitkyina by Allied forces occurred at the height of the monsoon season, when the Nipponese, assuming the Allies couldn't "take" the monsoons may have diverted the "main part" of their forces to the Eastern sector of China.

CAREFUL—DON'T TRY THIS

Don't give away, sell or destroy that coal or wood burning equipment you have just in order to get a fuel oil ration, because OPA has authorized local rationing boards to withhold the ration under such circumstances.

NURSES GET MOST CITATIONS

Of the awards and citations given to a total of 105 women in the U. S. armed forces to date, 97 women of the Army Nurse Corps got the lion's share, OWI reported on the basis of information from Army and Navy. The Distinguished Flying Cross, highest award ever made to a woman, went to a flying Army nurse in New Guinea.

ROUND-UP

OPA says: Any farmer who sold 6,000 pounds or less of dressed meat having any ration point value and produced from his own livestock during the past 12 months must file a report of his sales on Form R-1609 and file with OPA. Cotton compress and warehouse operators may charge a 17 per cent surcharge over maximum rates authorized for the 1942-43 season. Individual consumers, small boarding houses and eating places operated to feed workers inside industrial plants may apply for supplemental ration points if they are in areas where the fresh vegetable supply does not meet nutritional needs. Because of extensive counterfeiting of A-11 gasoline coupons, service station operators should be sure that every A coupon they accept is torn out of a valid ration book and that the motorist has endorsed the coupon with the license number of the car into which the gas is delivered. Because of the shortage of kerosene and other heating oils, issuance of fuel oil rations for water heating, domestic cooking or domestic lighting has been halted if the applicant has use of electric equipment for these purposes. Manufacturers of 1,768,968 electric irons, allocated for production have agreed to market them at their March, 1942 prices.

USDA says: Much of the pulpwood for the V-box, a soak-proof, paper-board box used in carrying supplies to the Armed Forces, comes from the thinning and logging operations in farm woodlands. Sweet potato meal, made from dehydrated sweet potatoes, compares favorably with corn as a feed for steers. Forty-one per cent fewer cattle were on feed for market in 11 Corn Belt States August 1, this year, than on that date, last year, one of the sharpest decreases ever shown. Thirty-five Latin-American students are studying extension methods and farm practices in the U. S. and about 80 will receive such training before July 1, next year.

choice with Cantwell safe at the plate; and after Sweeney grounded out to the second baseman Ed Hall, Domenick, Desert and McDermott put together three more singles to score six runs in the inning and take the lead 10 to 5.

Narberth scored two more runs in the seventh when after Capelli got on base on an error, De Filippo boarded on a fielder's choice which put Capelli out at second. Jeffries then singled, and both scored on McCusick's second triple of the day, the latter again driving in third.

In the ninth Narberth made its last effort when after De Filippo grounded out to the pitcher, Jeffries got his second single. Again McCusick tripled to score Jeffries and then on a throw by Joyce struck out and Powell popped up to the shortstop. Final score: Good Counsel 10, Narberth 8.

McCusick had a perfect day at bat for Narberth with three triples and a single while Jeffries tried hard to win his own game with three singles in five trips to the plate. His pitching lacked the ease and smoothness he displayed last week, however.

Domenick was the big hitter for Good Counsel with three singles in five trips to the plate. Sweeney, McDermott, Desert, Hammonds, and Cantwell each had two hits, however, the team as a whole showing more batting power than it has during most of the season.

The Autocar Cup and other awards for the season will be presented at a banquet which is tentatively planned for Monday evening, September 11.

Worker

Letty E. Jones, Tunbridge Rd., Haverford, was among the first 300 American Red Cross workers to reach the Cherbourg Peninsula to serve invasion troops in that area.

It was announced by American Red Cross National Headquarters here today.

Miss Jones, along with others who previously served American armed forces in England, arrived at Cherbourg by army transport and immediately took up her duties as a hospital recreation worker.

At least 16 American Red Cross clubmobiles are now in operation on the beachhead in Normandy, a leave club has opened in Cherbourg, two more are about to open, and other Red Cross services to the armed forces are in full swing.

Harvey D. Gibson, commissioner, cabled from London. In addition, Gibson revealed that eight field clubs are already in operation.

"Women recreation workers are operating with all evacuation hospital units, and all field directors have been assigned, many having landed during the first days of action," Gibson said.

WMC Seeks 230 Men To Repair Half-Tracks Damaged in Action

The Philadelphia office of the War Manpower Commission is seeking 230 men, urgently needed by The Autocar Company, of Ardmore, to repair Army half-tracks damaged in action and to help build new half-tracks for foreign service.

The Autocar Company is working on Army and Navy orders for combat vehicles that will call for maximum production well into 1945.

The men now being sought by The Autocar Company need not be experienced mechanics. They will be trained on the job. Workers are being recruited by factory representatives at three offices of the U. S. Employment Service located at 3128 Market Street, in Philadelphia; 7032 Garrett Road, in Upper Darby; and 533 Swede Street, in Norristown.

Autocar's pay rate, the WMC stated, was exceptionally high.
